'58 POST

GEORGE WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA — VOL. 29

Washington on the GO

Learning the stroll, earning credits, adding a helping hand, and cheering our teams, we are on the go. We laugh at Sputnik jokes but give serious thought to the fact the moon is only 252,710 miles from earth. Parties, formal dances, clubs, sports, jobs, and preparation for a future—all these fill our busy schedules.

. . . packed in buses and jalopies

Going, going, gone all the time according to our parents and teachers, pupils are constantly in a rush. We take time out of our schedule to talk with friends in the halls or via the telephone. Often the friendliness at Washington is shown by the way students fill their cars with friends or gather in cheerful groups throughout the school.

All Aboard—Students who do not have cars ride crowded buses.

The Line Up—Pupils with cars aren't so fortunate as it may seem to the bus riders. Every night a long line of cars wait to get on busy Washington Street.

Strolling—Time between classes gives Don Smith a chance to walk Carole Wigginton to her class.

. . . tying up phone lines, and just talking

Telephone Time—Parents usually set a time limit for teenagers on the phone; therefore, Jim Leach has little time to arrange a date. Janet Renner finally received the call she was waiting for.

Stare-Steppers—Linda Hefner, Becky Grimes, and Scotty McAtee stare at the camera as they descend to a first floor class.

. . . working and cramming after school

It's Not All Fun—With a comfortable position on the floor and a book, Judy Puckett prepares for the next day's classes.

As much a part of our lives as classes, after-school clubs, and sports practice, are the activities that fill our hours after we close our locker doors and leave school for the day. It is during these hours that we try to cram in all the activities that keep Washington students really on the go.

A great many of us hold jobs, some even have their class schedules arranged so they can leave school early and go to work. It's the working students who find it hardest to complete homework assignments on time. But completed they must be whether you do homework during the commercials of your favorite T V programs, or whether you work and have to finish your assignments while your classmates are having pleasant dreams.

If The Shoe Fits—Don Vidito and many other students work to earn money for college.

Your Change, Sir—Eloise Laird and Mickey Sanders help in checking out a store patron.

Put-Em-Up—Sandra Brown, who works in the bookstore during her spare time, is selling a book to one of the students.

. . . keeping busy during the day

Look-Em-Up—These girls are working on an assignment in the library during their study period.

Washington on the GO

. . . having fun in the typical teen-age

A Quiet Moment—Nancy Hancock and Ronnie Short take time out of a busy week for a few hours of devotion and quiet thinking.

Flowers For My Lady—David Stegemoller shyly presents Sara Fairringer with flowers for one of the big social functions of the year.

fashion

No matter where they go or how they go, today's teenagers always seem to have fun. Fun just goes with the teenager. Whether it's a hayride with the gang followed by a sizzling hot dog cooked over an open fire or a trip to a favorite drive-in, it's fun to be with friends.

Coke Please—A stop at one of the favorite drive in spots means fun for Kathy Becker.

Hot Dog!—Dave Wiggam and Marsha Blankenship enjoy themselves at a weinie roast.

Senior Shindig—A senior record dance was one of the highlights of the school year.

Washington on the GO

... getting the most from our classes

It's a Small World—Sandra Adams, Melvin Slinker, Ralph Bowers, and Tessa Trusty study the globe in a world history class.

Brains at Work—James Coffman, Carolyn Dayes, Ronnie Mann, Sandra Ayres, and Larry Hunt experiment in a chemistry class.

They Tell a Lot!—Joe Dunnigan, freshman, finds that report cards reveal much.

On the Spot!—Tina Parker, junior, recites in an English class.

and preparing for college . . .

Of course, the main reason for school is classes even though emphasis is sometimes placed or misplaced on other aspects. It is the classes that make the school first or second rate academically.

Washington tries to keep its standards high, but this would be impossible without the help of everyone. The students and faculty work harmoniously to keep Washington in the first rate category.

Teachers give students advice in preparing for college or whatever occupation they may choose to enter after graduation. The students in turn serve the school by ushering, running errands, and working in the clinic and bookstore.

Which one?—Janet Stevens and Judy Kernohan discuss college plans with Mrs. Ester R. Dengler, representative from Evanston Hospital.

102 ??—Diane Coghill, one of the several girls who help Mrs. Brownewell, our nurse, may be the reason for Ronnie Emery's high temperature.

Mystery Man!—Mrs. Baldwin explains that school attendance is important to grades and future employment opportunities.

Washington on the GO

. . . sporting flashy new band uniforms

Loyalty and Tension—The colors are presented, the crowd sings the National Anthem. The boys earn an early victory. Tension shows on the faces of coaches, Dave Hine and Jerry Oliver.

Clear the field—The cheer leaders lead the team out for another gridiron victory.

. . . building school spirit

Who can define school spirit? If a student body has it, all know it; if not, they know that too. Ask Continentals if there is school spirit at Washington High School. They will answer "Sure, this is our school!"

What makes up school spirit? Our band marching down a football field, our scholars striving to bring honors to our school, our athletes uniting the school in victory—this is school spirit.

We have seen the evidence of school spirit all around us. "We're from Washington and no one could be prouder."

to classes

Burning the midnight oil to pass exams, trying to finish last night's homework during roll call, and striving to make the honor roll sets the pace of our academic life.

We take pages of notes in class and find we can translate only half of those notes when final exam time comes. We give up coke dates on school nights to spend the evening at the library searching for material on space or a phase of English literature.

Using hundreds of pencils and reams of paper, we strive for a diploma and prepare for the future.

"Look Out"—"Look out" is the usual comment as students go through the crowded halls to and from classes.

. . . tackling speech, classes, and themes

Head of the Class—Beverly Sichting diagrams a sentence for her English V class.

To many pupils English is more than doing daily drills. Winning the poetry contest or writing the best essay is the goal of many pupils.

After six semesters of required English, we may elect advanced English. Great works of present and past English writers are read and studied in advance classes. Another senior course is advanced composition—especially important to college bound seniors.

Juniors may vary their English electives with speech and journalism.

After six semesters we know that plural subjects deserve plural verbs, the four types of sentences necessary for good compositions, and the masters of the English language.

Young people realize that learning and understanding our language is important. Learning by reading the great masters pieces is beneficial and enjoyable.

8 + 8 = 16 —These math students are busy working on their daily assignments.

. . . solving intricate mathematic problems

Although every student is required to take one year of general math or algebra, some students take advantage of the advance courses offered by the math department. These students may be majoring in math to prepare for college or to prepare for future jobs.

Scholarships are often given on the basis of the amount of math taken; therefore, it is important to include math in every program.

There are increasing numbers of students interested in geometry, algebra, and trigonometry.

2 x 2 = 4—Jack Reynolds, Bill Bennett, Gary Hesser, and John Arvin, seniors, find using the slide rule in college algebra makes math easier. These boys are majoring in mathematics in order to prepare themselves for college.

United We Stand—Members of the history faculty are Row 1: Mrs. Corlie Walker, Donald Fasig, and Mrs. Anne Burge, department head. Row 2: Amos Slaton, Pershing Meyers, Carl Zenor, and Richard Hedges. Those not pictured are Russell McConnell and Audie Watkins.

In our history and social studies classes we are taught the past, in order to understand current events more fully. Seniors learn how far the government should interfere with business, and by what methods we, the future business men and women, can seek to improve its conditions. We learn to grow and think, readying ourselves for life in the great American way.

. . . digging into history—then and now

Ticker Tape Tycoons—Ralph Wilham, Marilyn Parker, and Emma Yates, students in a problems class, are shown here checking the recent ups and downs of the market. All students in the Economic Problems classes kept charts such as these and bought and sold imaginary stocks on an unpredictable market.

When in Rome—Joelynn Adams, Ray Fuller, and Wayne Slater study a Latin story intently as they try to translate it into good English sentences. They are in an advance Virgil Class.

Time Flies—This calendar in the Spanish room has the days and months printed in Spanish. Changing the date are Sherain Poindexter and Darleen Weir.

. . . striving to master foreign tongues

Conjugating Experts—Language teachers are Mrs. Mildred Corie, Mrs. Hester Bock, and Mrs. Fimie Richie.

Washington students realize how important foreign languages are. Therefore they not only attend classes in other tongues but join together to form our Spanish and Latin clubs. Learning another language is helpful in knowing that tongue and also in knowing our own English language, since many of our words are de-derivatives of foreign tongues.

Boom!!—Steve Marsh, a student of chemistry, performs a glowing experiment. He is testing the reaction of certain metals in gases.

Searchin??—Nancy Cummings seeks additional information from her biology teacher, Miss Mabel Loehr. Pupils in biology learn about bacteria and other phases of nature.

Possessing one of the largest and most outstanding science libraries in Indiana, Washington is able to give students additional help in the field of science, beyond that obtained from a text book. By adding another year of required science work for graduation, the school is encouraging and guiding students toward taking advantage of the opportunities to study advanced science courses in our well equiped laboratories. Our modern facilities and able teachers promote and inspire tomorrow's scientists.

. . . exploring fascinating science fields

Fine Specimens—Members of the science department are Row 1: Mrs. Elizabeth Crider, James Otto, head, Miss Mabel Loehr. Row: 2 J. C. Nelson, Franklin Burnett, Frank Tardy, Donald Kramer, Allan Stacy. Not pictured is Mrs. Mildred Ross.

The art department offers varied and interesting courses designed to suit the taste of every student.

This year was a gold key year for the students in the art department. Fifteen of the students were awarded gold keys in competition which included students throughout the central part of the state.

The upper halls are always decorated with the work of the art department.

Very Modern Art—Jimmy Myers, Regina Lumsdon, and Kenny Wright work on a very complex piece of modern art.

Hold It—Mamie Holder puts some finishing touches on a portrait of Sharon King. Posing for these pictures means fun.

. . . employing our own creative abilities

Thumbs Up—Miss Evelyn McConnell, Mr. Carl Jensen, and Mr. E. J. Manetta are the art department teachers.

. . . perfecting culinary and serving arts

Home economic courses prepare the girls and boys of Washington for their future jobs as homemakers. Even the boys realize the importance of knowing how to boil water. Related courses inform students about problems and responsibilities that they will face as adults and parents.

Dish It Out—Home Economics teachers are Mrs. Joan Law, Miss Gertrude Lindley, Miss Orrell Negus, Mrs. Thelma Brownewell, Mrs. Dorothy Luther, Miss Margaret Simonds, Miss Rose King, and Mrs. Elizabeth Randolph.

Mechanical Minded—Members of the industrial arts faculty are Row 1: Ursa Walker, head, Walter Mendel, Charles Fusco, Michael Barrett, and Ben Sanders; Row 2: John Seeburger, Roger Weaver, Stewart Joyce, Victor Graves, Ross Cox, Leon Hunt, and Paul W. Hayes.

Many students take industrial arts courses to prepare themselves for work after graduation. Some students like to work with their hands and make things; for others, it's a hobby. Still more students feel it is a welcome change after studying books.

The courses offered in our outstanding industrial arts department are auto shop, carpentry, cylinder press, drafting, electric shop, linotype, machine shop, mechanical drawing, and wood shop. Many boys continue their training after graduation.

. . . learning to execute practical crafts

Cunning Carpenters—Coffee tables are the projects of A. Abshier, B. Homan, and B. Stinnett in carpentry class.

Drilling for Oil—Precision is what counts to J. Cannon, D. Dodd, and M. Colman as they work industriously in machine shop class.

Continental Voices—Members of the Colonial Chorus are row 1: C. Lee, M. Henning, C. Copsy, E. Laird, J. Bright, S. Gilbert, J. Mount, N. Hildenbrand, E. Reynolds, L. Williams, C. Harris, G. Clarkson, H. Suddeth, A. Foster; row 2: S. May, E. Yates, S. Brown, J. Garrett, J. Robinson, D. Lang, D. Luzar, B. Rhodes, S. Flora, N. Hancock, S. Kern, K. Becker, M. Cook, A. Worrell, C. Payton; row 3: F. Opp, B. Coble, G. Hesser, R. Haase, R. Myers, R. Short, R. Privett, D. Bowman, L. Griffith, R. Schmidt, L. Warren, E. Creech, D. McAtee, J. Mayo, row 4: R. McPherson, S. Marsh, M. Tracy, J. Orange, D. Wilson, D. Gammon, J. Hale, B. Barr, G. Denton, J. Thompson, R. Hoschouer.

. . . blending our musical talents for harmony

Music At Its Best—Members of the Concert Orchestra directed by Samuel W. Siurua, are; D. Phillips, L. Price, M. Cupp, P. Waltz, A. Morris, P. Hussung, D. Osting, S. Obergfell, D. Graves, J. Mount, A. Dreher, M. Fishburn, M. Frye, I. Roseberry, S. Phillips, S. Durham, F. Fowler, S. Rigsby, R. Robbins, D. Williamson, S. James, D. Sorrells, A. Hicks, J. Flint, J. Whitis.

Marching Continentals—Members of the band include row 1: B. Smotherman, B. Jackson, P. Neill, C. Blackwell, K. Bowman, C. Lee, J. Burton, T. Radcliffe, E. Funk, D. Oliver, S. Vaseloff; row 2: D. Donovan, G. Phillips, R. Hoschouer, T. James, E. Henderson, A. Stone, Y. Alkire, B. Williamson, T. Owens; row 3: Mr. Funk, L. McPhail, M. Spurgeon, S. Leak, B. Sloan, A. Foster, J. Sturgis, P. Capps, R. Holcomb, F. Caldwell, J. Stott, W. Sterrett; row 4: J. Allen, G. Green, S. Durham, L. Cook, K. Drake, K. Baldwin, R. Johnson, H. VanWinkle, M. Swango, E. Samper, P. Lambert, A. Doll; row 5: E. Hodge, J. Manners, F. Dininger, O. Livingston, J. White, D. Jackson, M. Green, E. White, E. Cox, S. Kelly, D. Hood; row 6: A. Kern, J. Hedges, L. Bridge, C. Weaver, R. Vincent,F. Davis, L. Harding, J. Adams, A. Roberts, T. Anderson Music plays an important part in the lives of Washington students. A variety of vocal and instumental classes are offered to those interested in music.

Washington's top preforming groups are the Concert Band, Orchestra, Colonial Chorus, and Continentalaires. Each year the Concert Band and Orchestra presents a concert. The Colonial Chorus and the Continentalaires perform at convocations, grade schools, and at special programs.

Music, Music, Music—Music faculty members are Charles Hamilton, Mrs. Edna Long, Ray Funk, Miss Ruth Amos, and Samuel Siurua.

Music Highlights—Members of the Girl's Ensemble are M. Parker, D. Oldham, D. Kirby, V. Gibbons, B. Wiggam, M. Thompson, S. Gilbert, P. Reagan, L. Williams, and J. Pedigo.

Dizzy Fingers—In the business classes at Washington High many students are preparing for their life after graduation. In machine calculation classes the girls learn to operate the business machines and to apply themselves in offices where they will work.

Molding Tomorrow's Businessmen—Mrs. Gladys Freundt, Miss Susanne Keck, Miss Mary Laatz, Mrs. Samuella Sands, William Mahan, Robert Kress, and Paul Carmichael, head, are the teachers who are members of our business faculty.

. . . working toward careers in business

Busy Minds—Sandra Sutton and Brenda Creek are preparing for jobs after graduation. In their junior business class they learn to understand the financial side of business. They learn the details later on in Bookkeeping.

The superior business education department at Washington High School prepares both boys and girls for jobs in the business world. Many times students are offered jobs in west side business offices even before they have graduated. Courses in machine calculation, bookkeeping, typing, and stenography give the girls excellent training for such jobs as secretaries, file clerks, bookkeepers, and clerk typists. Typing is invaluable to students who are planning to go to college. Salesmanship, business law, advanced business, office practice, and junior business round out the courses offered.

You're Heavy!—Kay Ritchie, gym assistant, helps Barbara Vandergriff as she acts as a base for Mary Rice.

Malnutrition—Gary Licho is pointing out in health class the internal parts of the body.

. . . doing calisthenics and useful skills

Look Before You Leap—Joe Olmstead and Anita Axe are giving first aid to Jerry Phillips.

Learning calisthenics, gymnastics, and anatomy is not as bad as it sounds; for these are the every day studies of gym, health, and safety students. In safety, we learn to give first aid and the fundamentals of operating a car. Health classes give us a better understanding of the human body, and in gym we learn to keep in good condition by exercising. Gym also gives us a chance to discover our abilities in sports.

Pep and Energy—Members of the Physical Education Department include Mrs. Rosemary Lennox, Mrs. Janet Cabel, Miss Rosemary Whitehead, Mrs. Elizabeth Hatfield; row 2: Dave Hine, Frank Luzar, John Williams, Henry Bogue, and Joe Tofil. Not pictured are Jerry Oliver and C. J. Julian.

Sure Shots—Members of the rifle team practicing on the range are Douglas Ford, Larry Bullington, Larry Worman, Charles Drury, Jerry Hughett, Paul Short, and Larry Brooks.

. . . training to safeguard our freedom

Our R. O. T. C. cadets boast that they have the corps commander of all the city high school units, Lt. Col. John Alexander, and the best sharpshooter in the Fifth Army District, Major Paul Short.

One of the loveliest dances, the Military Ball, is sponsored annually by the Reserve Officers Training Corps. This year's event was noted for its lavish decorations of silver and blue.

Our soldiers-to-be learn courtesy, neatness, and respect for authority as well as military tactics and organization. Those cadets who are interested may participate on the rifle team, drill team, or color guard.

The cadets prepare each spring for the formal Federal Inspection which is witnessed by the student body.

Belles of the Ball—Mr. Walter crowns Georgia Clarkson, queen of the Military Ball. The members of her court were Lorelei Williams and Sandra Brown.

Big Decisions—Directors of our R. O. T. C. units are S. F. C. William T. Farmer and M/Sgt. Dan C. Yercich.

Inspection Experts—Elected by the cadets as sponsors are Lt. Col. Georgia Clarkson, Capt. Diane Luzar, Capt. Sandra Brown, and Capt. Lorelei Williams.

"No Time For Sergeants"—Top officers of the R.O.T.C. are row 1: Maj. Paul Short, 1st Lt. Charles Drury, 2nd Lt. Robert Vaughn, 2nd Lt. Tom Purvis, 2nd Lt. Joe Olmstead, 2nd Lt. Larry Rosselot. Row 2: Maj. Larry Worman, Capt. James Thompson, Capt. James Brunt, 2nd Lt. Kenneth McCreary, Lt. Col. John Alexander, 2nd Lt. Larry Brooks, and 1st Lt. Frank Opp.

. . . capturing the year's events in print

Honorary Journalists—Members of Quill & Scroll are Row 1: N. Curtis, J. Carter, G. Edwards, N. Hildenbrand, K. Pence, J. Smith; Row 2: L. Combs, J. Smith, R. Ruble, G, Hudson, S. Smith, R. Wilham.

Top Brass—Looking at the dummy for the '58 Post are the business manager, Sandra Elmore; and co-editors, Kay Pence and Judy Kay Smith. Working together, they lead the yearbook staff.

News Writers—Busy planning The Surveyor are M. Moneymaker, B. Barr, G. Hudson, S. Flint, E. White, J. Gaddis, S. Nesbit, J. Cherry, R. Wilham, P. Regan, R. Ruble, S. Keithley, G. Edwards, N. Curtis.

. . . meeting deadlines

Willingness to work, ambition, and a talent for creating, make up the qualities of a good publication staff.

The opportunities vary for people who work on The Surveyor and Post staffs from art and photography to writing and editing news.

This year for the first time the Post contains advertising. To make the advertising section more interesting, student pictures were added.

Each student on the Post staff has a certain job to do.

The Surveyor brings you the latest news on sports, pupils, teachers, and fads.

The editor of The Surveyor can verify that it is a hard job to manage a paper, but it has its rewards.

By working on the Post or The Surveyor a journalist can obtain membership in the Quill and Scroll, the National Honor Society for high school journalist.

. . . circulating continental news all over

On Your Mark Get Set—The News-Bureau staff which writes for the local newspapers are Judy Kay Smith, Kay Pence, Jill Carter, Grace Edwards, and Rita Ruble.

Set'em Up—Steve Myers hands Raymond Sorrell copy from the journalism staff to be cast into lines of type.

Lock'em In—David Street puts in the last of the type before another page will be locked in place in the form.

. . . going to press with timely scoops

This is truly a yearbook for you by you. Not only have the students of George Washington High School gathered the memories contained in this book, but also they have edited and refined the stories told here and snapped some of the pictures to bring these memories closer.

When the copy is sent to the printer, it is sent to your classmates, perhaps you yourself, for the print shop is just down the stairs. Boys who are training for a vocation set all the type, proof their work for errors, put the pages together, and run those pages off, helping to create these lasting memories for you.

You now hold in your hands a collection of memories, created by you, captured for you by your '58 Post staff of writers and printers.

Roll'em Off—Don Bess looks as Bill Green "runs off" the yearbook on the cylinder press in room 79.

to activities

Enjoying our friendship with our teachers and fellow students, taking field trips, and devoting time from our crowded schedules to attend clubs makes our extracurricular activities an important part of our busy lives.

If our interest goes deeper than the textbooks, we become members of the many school sponsored clubs. We travel throughout Indiana participating in speech tournaments and viewing historical sights.

We spend hours in jeans decorating for dances; and later in our very best attire, we dance under crepe paper skies.

Yes, as Washington students we are on the go, broadening our knowledge and interest through extracurricular activities.

Dancing Dolls—Stud·nts l o o k forward to participating in The Junior Vaudeville.

. . . winning top scholastical achievements

Top Notch Teens—Delegate for Boys' State was John Alexander. John was Washington's representative to the United Nations. Georgia Clarkson went to Girls' State. Jill Carter went to Girls' State and she also won the D. A. R. Award. Sandra Brown was alternate to United Nations.

Of the many different organizations, two stand out as the most honored by Washington students and teachers. The students elected to the Honor Society and Student Council are those who have become eligible through their scholastic accomplishments and contributions to school activities and functions.

Student Council representatives from each roll room sponsor dances, clean-up campaigns, and pom pon sales. Profits made from these events are used to buy gifts for the school. Honor Society and Student Council members work hard to make other pupils see the necessity of good grades, school spirit, and good citizenship.

Student Council—Members of the Student Council are row 1: A. Foster, H. Suddeth, P. Hoyt, S. Millspaugh, D. Armour, J. Smith, M. Blankenship, L. Worrell, S. Leak, J. Mount, L. Martin, J. Cummings, J. Cooper, M. Thompson, K. Ritchie, S. Prichard; row 2: B. Keller, V. England, N. Kira, A. Brumley, J. Pedigo, B. Grimes, E. Clark, E. Reynolds, T. Walters, B. Sichting, S. Stephens, N. Stone, B. Jackson, K. Bowman, S. Keithley, E. Funk, J. McClain, M. Harrington, Miss Horne, sponsor; row 3: S. Kitterman, J. Arvin, J. Alexander, L. Combs, L. Glaze, L. Megenhardt, L. Griffith, K. Doll, S. Coffman, M. Bartlett, J. Saylor, H. White, L. Hefner, S. Brown, D. Luzar, J. Potts, E. Yates, L. Williams, L. Swarts, D. Oliver, G. Clarkson. The Student Council has one representative from each roll room.

. . . governing ourselves democratically

Intra-City Council—Members of the Intra-City Council are Larry Combs, Sandra Brown, Steve Kitterman, and John Alexander. These students meet with representatives from the student councils of other high schools.

Student Council Officers—Officers of the Student Council are President, John Alexander; Vice-President, Helen Suddeth; Secretary, Georgia Clarkson; Treasurer, Dick Sesslar; and Sgt.-at-Arms, Leon Griffith.

Hail Caesar!—Latin Club members are row 1: A. Morris, B. Kemp, V. Miller, D. Kany, T. Felice, B. Carroll, R. Norris, J. Tackwell, M. Mayfield, D. Norris, J. Clester, D. Heald, C. Smock, L. Ewoldt, M. Herron, D. Dayes, J. Pyatt, R. Cordova, L. Martin, M. Winchester, D. Cribelar, A. Roberts, C. Eads, S. Durham, B. Miller, W. Brame, and J. Quinn; row 2: J. Slater, S. Heritier, R. Mahaffey, B. Grimes, J. Gregory, M. Blankenship, L. Bainaka, K. Becker, M. Whitemoss, L. Worrell, D. Smith, R. Fuller, N. Johnson, D. Osting, P. Mahan, D. Lindsay, M. Pemberton, M. Smotherman, D. Smith, P. Dowden, P. Merritt, L. Spurgeon, K. Collins, B. Keller, K. Turner, E. Samper, B. Becker, and D. Smith; row 3: D. Horner, Mrs. Bock, J. Hamm, B. Brown, B. Smith, L. McPhail, M. Cox, J. Basey, J. Mitchell, V. Gano, S. Coffman, P. Turner, S. Fleser, B. Kirby, J. Link, S. Edwards, S. Brown, P. Capps, N. Watson, M. Martin, S. Baugh, P. Wallace, P. Bryant, S. Brown, S. Thomas, D. Miller, J. Kernohan, Mrs. Cory, and L. Carmichael; row 4: W. Bucklew, E. Hale, H. White, J. Collins, R. Lynch, D. Hood, T. Crosley, E. Suddith, T. Artis, S. Kelly, J. Loviscek, R. Leeper, P. Allen, D. Shepherd, D. Hazelwood, J. Willoughby, D. Jackson, B. Cook, R. Adkins, M. Green, D. Lawson, J. Stevens, N. Smith, B. Smotherman, J. Hedges, and T. Willoughby.

. . . being curious about ancient times

Meditators—Members of the Bible Club are row 1: N. Frye, V. Dooley, M. Thompson, C. Bowman, S. Maddox, M. Cupp, V. Miller, and M. Jones; row 2: M. Kelly, B. Kelly, M. Spurgeon, P. Butler, M. Hammonds, M. Cupp, N. Selch, and Mrs. McWilliams, sponsor.

After a long day of classes, many students relax in clubs of their own special interests. For students interested in Latin, science, history, and the Bible these four clubs are suited to their tastes.

The overflowing Latin Club sponsors a Roman banquet each spring. During this festive occasion, the members try to unfold the days of the old Roman Empire.

The Junto Club, sponsored by the social studies department, visits many of Indiana's historical sights. The aim is to win the special award that is offered to one history club each year for doing the most toward the betterment of their community.

The Science Club is of interest to many scientifically-minded students. The members are urged to enter into contests that are sponsored by Westinghouse and other such organizations.

Taking time out from school routines to meditate upon the Bible is a source of pleasure and relaxation to the members of the Bible Club. This club helps in maintaining high standards in our school.

Scientists of Tomorrow—Members of the Science Club are row 1: J. Young, P. Wantland, D. Barry, E. Reynolds, N. Kira, L. McPhail, C. Howard, L. Worrell, K. Collins, and P. Coleman; row 2: Mrs. Elizabeth Crider, L. McPhail, B. Kirby, D. Jones, R. Wade, E. Kaufman, J. Leeper, L. Worman, R. Aue, D. Hood, P. Legg, and E. Hughues.

Historians All—Members of the Junto Club are row 1: M. Sanders, C. Theobald, S. Vaseloff, B. Cordova, G. Clarkson, J. Smith, and B. Kemp; row 2: K. Reagon, B. Ewing, S. Jent, N. Roberts, M. Berry, J. Lester, J. Carter, and K. Jines; row 3: B. Grimes, J. Gregory, K. Becker, L. McPhail, L. Swarts, D. Lindsey, K. Ruble, S. Gilbert, B. Becker, and T. Bowman; row 4: Mr. Carl Zenor, T. Walters, B. Brown, D. Oliver, L. Hefner, B. Thomas, B. Butler, B. Barrett, N. Hancock, S. Brown, and P. Reagan.

How Now Brown Cow!—Members of the Dramatics Club are row 1: Mrs. Evelyn Paul, sponsor; C. Wiggington, S. Siepman, J. Tackwell, M. Blankenship, D. Phillips, D. Dayes, R. Cordova, D. Kaney, and N. Ward; row 2: R. Eyster, P. Utley, C. Dayes, K. Pence, C. Euliss, J. Johnson, E. Yates, K. Faulkner, P. Thomas, D. Heald, J. Link, B. Sichting, and J. Price; row 3: N. Kira, S. McLaughlin, J. Borger, R. Gates, D. Bess, H. Van Winkle, H. Faulkner, R. Mann, D. McAtee, E. Grimes, S. Poindexter, and D. Gaulden.

U. N. Wizard—Jim Thompson won a trip to New York and to the United Nations by writing and delivering a speech on the U. N. for a contest sponsored by the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Steps Leading To Success—Members of the National Thespians, honorary dramatic society, include K. Pence, H. Faulkner, D. Heald, R. Thomas, J. Borger, R. Gates, and R. Eyster.

. . . dramatizing our talents far and near

Our varsity debaters can say with pride that they have been city and county champs for two consecutive years. Under the direction of Donald Fasig, the club visits many schools during the year participating in various events.

Debate and Dramatic Club members take part in extemp, original oratory, declamations, and debate contests. Hard work and many after school hours account for the skill achieved by the students in the events.

For pupils with dramatic ability or for those who just enjoy acting, the Dramatic Club is sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Paul. Plays are presented for the entertainment of the school.

Pro and Con—Diane Luzar, John Alexander, Sandy Ayers, and Priscilla Thomas, varsity debaters, gather information to support their statements.

Academy Award Potentials—Becky Cordova serves Darlene Heald and Ronnie Mann in the Dramatic Club's Christmas play entitled, "Christmas is a Racket." Mrs. Evelyn Paul, sponsor, helped the students to produce the play, which was based on the commercialization of that sacred holiday.

Over the Horizon—Members of the Horizon Club are H. Ewing, B. Smith, T. Walters, T. Weiser, J. Herring, L. Cox, and M. Stricker.

Big Sisters—Leaders in the Washingtonians are Sue Prichard, president; Judith Halloran, vice-president; JoAnn Cherry, secretary; and Sandy Elmore, treasurer. The Washingtonians are responsible for the semiannual Big Sister party.

. . . serving our school and community

. . . capering in continental style

Out of this World—A main attraction of the Capers this year featured Justin Marshall, David Hine, Mrs. Elizabeth Hatfield, and Jerry Oliver, in a faculty skit, "The Perils of Satellite Sue".

Fishin'—Barbara Champ receives her prize while Judy Collum and Sandy Handak still try to win theirs. This game was one of many in the Capers game room.

This spring on an April evening, every loyal Continental left this planet and soared into outer space for the time of his life. The annual Continental Capers, keeping up with the space age, carried out the theme, "Out of This World".

Washington added two of its students to the list of inter-planet celebrities as a Space King and Queen were elected.

The Caper's Vaudeville was the best show yet, rocking the whole school to the beat of "Tequila", "Book of Love", and other rock and roll favorites.

An added attraction this year was the group of side shows sponsored by the clubs and by members of the faculty.

The help of the parents and other members of the community, which always make our school functions a success, proved once again that school spirit isn't limited to students.

The Continental Capers this year was an "Out of this world" success!

Making ends Meet—C. J. Julian confers with Ebert White, Calvin Wantland, Mrs. Stanley Arvin, and Mrs. Thurman Radcliffe. These parents helped to make school functions a success.

Royalty at Home—Our Homecoming Queen sits with her court. They are Joyce Mount, Kay Ritchie, Sue Prichard, queen; Helen Suddeth, and Shirley Vaseloff.

. . . electing popular guys and gals

Gridiron Crown—Dave Sanders is placing a football helmet on our Jamboree queen, Diane Luzar.

Electing kings and queens, Continentals eagerly anticipate royal campaigns where friends and sometimes they themselves win prized positions as kings and queens. The Jamboree queen reigns at our gridmen's first showing in the City Jamboree. The Homecoming queen is crowned before hundreds of students and alumni on our football field the night of the annual football Homecoming Game.

In annual tradition a boy and a girl are elected as Johnnie and Connie Continental as part of the Post subscription drive. The spring season brings the election of a queen and a court to reign at our track meets. The popularity contest in which both a popular boy and girl are elected is a feature of the Continental Capers. The election of a May Queen and court to reign at the Strawberry Festival climaxes another school year.

Each year the students crown the kings and queens of their own choice by popular vote. The big moment comes after much tension and anxiety on the part of the students and the candidates.

The big moment is climaxed with squeals of happiness and screams of excitement. These are the captured memories that linger long after the experience is in the past.

And The Royalty Reigned—Joyce Bright reigned as May Queen and her court consisted of Kathy Becker, Helen Suddeth, Jo Ann Cherry, Jill Carter, Susan Wampler, and Sandra Brown.

. . . reigning at school events

And The Pops Topped—Fred Hunt and Susan Wampler were crowned Popularity King and Queen at the Continental Capers.

And The Queen Was Crowned—Bill Bennett crowns the Track Queen, Joyce Bright, while Kay Ritchie, Linda Martin, Joyce Mount, and Becky Grimes watched.

And The Typical Continentals—Dave Sanders and Vennettia Eddy topped the popularity polls for Johnnie and Connie Continental.

Grand Finale—The grand finale indicates the end of another Vaudeville act. All of the cast members of act II heave a sigh of relief as the director signals for them to go on the stage for a rousing climax.

. . . hamming it up in our junior production

Friendship—Elaine Funk, Marilyn Harrington, and Sandra Fleser croon a song of friendship.

Gettin' Ready—Actors await their turn—no stage fright here as entertainers prepare to face the floodlights.

Junior Class members, who are well on their way to becoming upperclassmen, planned and sponsored the Junior Vaudeville and the Junior Prom.

The vaudeville included a comedy skit, a musical interpretation of teen-agers, and a hillbilly scene full of laughter and music. The co-operation of the entire school was necessary in making the show a success.

Prom theme, "My Blue Heaven", created the atmosphere for the dancing juniors as they twirled the floor to the music of Nick Craig.

This year's class sponsors were Mr. Guy Mahan, Mr. Robert Badgely, and Mrs. Joan Law.

. . . living it up

Junior Royalty—Candidates for king and queen of the Junior Rose Prom are row 1: Marilyn Harrington, Joyce Mount, Janice Burton, Shirley Vaseloff, and Kay Ritchie; row 2: Steve Kitterman, Don Bess, Fred Belser, Gary Headley, and Nick Tsakrios. The prom this year was on April 26.

to sports

Spending hours perfecting our athletic skill, screaming at the top of our lungs when we win, and sometimes bursting into tears after defeat, we look forward to a switch in sports with the change of seasons.

Our football players start in August preparing for the gridiron; and before the last "make that point" is heard, the hardwood feels the bounce of the basketball.

Wrestlers struggle hard to lose or gain an extra pound. Track and cross country teams say they run at least a mile a day. When the weather warms up, the baseball players warm up. Spring and fall finds the linkmen on the golf course.

Now Hear This—Halftime is pep-up and rest time for the fighting gridmen.

Home from Battle—Harold Stockoff and John Arvin return from an excursion on the Tech Field.

The Thinker—Coach Joe Tofil is in deep thought while Jerry Oliver looks for a sub.

. . . winning ways have our gridmen

Mighty Continentals—The varsity and reserve players as shown are row 1: B. Milatovich, C. Hedges, B. Keller, D. Sanders, B. Green, L. Griffith, J. Arvin, P. Saunders, W. Brown, B. Jones, F. Opp, H. Earls, T. Hensley, D. Wilson, D. Abbott; row 2: reserve coach, Bill Springer, managers, M. Johnson, S. Shonk, and D. Steele; J. Dill, D. Henry, H. Stockhoff, B. Stinnett, B. Coffey, K. Linville, C. Bindhamer, J. Stovall, C. Prince, R. Miles, M. Snyder, N. Purichia, L. Carmichael; row 3: J. Slater, K. Couch, B. Wainscott, B. Smith, L. Glaze, J. Livingston, B. Snowberger, L. Compton, B. Fultz, C. Opp, L. McClellan, E. Grimes, R. Opp, L. Harding, asst. coach, Jerry Oliver; row 4: J. Palmer, C. Comer, W. Beliles, F. Heinzmann, S. Peterson, D. Brunner, M. Baker, B. Vlasity, G. McKenzie, B. Cook, B. West, J. Stewart, L. Short, B. Smith, D. Dodson, L. Megenhardt, C. Meador, R. Fuller, and varsity coach, Joe Tofil.

Washington started its season by downing Broad Ripple in the Jamboree. In the first regular game of the year, Joe Tofil's gridmen stopped highly rated Manual.

The mighty Continentals stayed in the top three on the city standings by defeating Shortridge. Sacred Heart was the next team to fall to the victorious Tofilmen. In probably the best game of the season, the "never-say-die" Washington team upset Scecina, picked to be first in the city.

Nearing the halfway mark of the football season, Washington rode in first place position in the city standings until losing to a strong Broad Ripple team before Homecoming fans. Following the Ripple defeat, Washington came back strong against Ben Davis. Tech was the second and last team to defeat the Tofilmen. The year ended in a blaze of glory as Dave Sanders led the Continentals to a victory over Howe, cinching himself a position on the All-City team.

. . . pounding the cinders for recognition

Throughout the '57 Cross-Country season, junior Bob Caldwell paced the runners in their meets. The varsity harriers won two dual meets and lost three. In the triangular meets they placed first in one, second in two, and third in two.

Washington finished ninth in the Howe invitational and seventh in the city meet. The team finished eleventh in the Shortridge invitational and ninth in the Sectionals.

Edward Eads, senior, and Dave Miller, sophomore, along with Bob Caldwell brought many awards to our school. Helping the team members improve throughout the season was coach Amos Slaton.

And Away We Go—Ed Eads and Bob Caldwell are getting in shape for a coming meet.

Washington's wrestling team, under the training of John Williams, finished their '57-'58 season with an impressive 11 and 5 record.

The matmen, in their first six meets, defeated Manual, Cathedral, and Deaf School while losing to Tech, Shortridge, and Broad Ripple. In the city meet held at Manual, the Continentals placed fourth.

The grapplers lost only two meets in the remaining season's matches as they defeated Bloomington, Brazil, Wood, Howe, Southport, Decatur Central, Attucks, and West Lafayette.

In the Sectional meets the Continentals grabbed sixth place.

Frank Opp and Bob Milatovich advanced through the regionals and on to the state where Frank took the championship in the 154 lb. class. Bob gained third place in the 165 lb. class.

State Champs—Frank Opp, on the right, became the state champ in the 154 lb. class, and Bob Milatovich, on the left, placed 3rd statewide in the 165 lb class.

. . . grappling for state wrestling honors

William's Wonders—The muscle men of the wrestling team, are row 1: R. Opp, F. Opp, C. Opp, R. White, O. Livingston, B. McCullough, R. Johnson, G. Stephanoff, B. Milatovich, J. Eyster, G. Continental Hoopmen—The members of the 57-58 varsity basketball team are row 1: J. Arnot, student manager, E. Williams, C. Prince, D. Sandders, E. Stennis, C. Hedges, and D. Donavon; row 2: Rowland Jones, athletic director, B. Keller, H. Earls, J. Brunt, D. Thomas, R. Gaters, and Coach Dave Hine.

Senior Hinesmen—Coach Dave Hine is shown here with the five senior members of the varsity basketball team. They are James Brunt, Howard Earls, Bernie Keller, Charles Hedges, and Dave Sanders.

Sputnik—Running after the ball is Ed Williams, varsity basketball player.

Up In The Air—Bernie Keller, starting forward for the Continentals, takes a rebound during pre-game warm-up exercises.

Let's Go—Charles Prince is preparing to go into the game while Coach Dave Hine is giving him some encouraging words.

. . . dribbling and shooting for victories

Up And In—Charles Prince, junior guard, is shown blocking an attempted shot by an opposing player.

Get That Tip—"I've got it" is what both Howard Earls and Earlie Stennis say as they jump for a loose ball.

Giving some of the best teams in the state real hardwood battles, the Continental hoopmen thrilled fans with a 59-57 victory over Tech and lost to highly ranked teams by close margins. Howard Earls, center, kept the Continentals in every game with his tipping and rebounding power. Second highest scorer, Bernie Keller, and Chuck Hedges were the starting guards. Other seniors who saw a lot of action were Dave Sanders and James Brunt. Underclass netmen gave a promising preview of things to come next year.

Ed Williams, a junior lad and regular starter, captured the fans' hearts with his jump shots and aggressive determination. Williams, highest scorer on the Continental team, will return next year as will two sophomores, Roy Gaters and Earlie Stennis. Other players who will spark next season's team are Dave Donavon, Charles Prince, Jack Brickler, Dave Thomas, and Mark Blane.

During the basketball season, boys have a chance to compete in Senior Intramural. Playing on Thursday nights, junior and senior boys match their skill against opposing teams. Six teams that make up the roster are Bruins, Guns, Stars, Lakers, Ozarks, and Comets. Under the guidance of Mr. Amos Slaton, three games are played each Thursday night.

Coach Jerry Oliver's hustling reserves completed an impressive season with a record of 7 wins and 11 loses. Pacing this year's team was Welton Beliles, Jim Livingston, and Dave Miller. These boys will be varsity hopefuls for Coach Dave Hine next year. Coach Oliver looks for some more outstanding players from the freshman team to help fill the gap left by the boys who will move into varsity positions.

Washington's cindermen had outstanding moments at the Tech meet. Among the boys who made them were Frank Opp who ran the 440 in just 53.6 which is just .9 seconds off our school record. Bill Byrd ran the low hurdle in 22.1, and Bernie Keller, Bill Bennett, Carl Opp, and Frank Opp, our relay team, finished in 3:40.1.

At the Howe meet other stirring moments came forth when Bill Green pole vaulted 10'9" and Washington's relay team ran the mile relay in 3:39.2.

Continentals were victorious over Columbus 61-50 and overshadowed Cathedral 66-51. This was Washington on the go.

Up 'n Over—Bill Green, senior cinderman, pole vaulted 10' 9" at the track meet held at Howe.

"Birdies Of A Feather"—Members of the golf team are row 1: G. Bushong, T. Mulrine, and R. Lewis; row 2: M. Popcheff, E. Ewoldt, S. Bright, G. McClennon, Coach Dave Hine, M. Swango, D. Aichinger, and P. Foxworthy. The boys play most of their matches at South Grove.

. . . teeing off against capable opponents

An Eagle?—George Bushong and Tom Mulrine wait for Dave Bowman to complete his putt.

Golf is the sport which begins and ends the school year. The team is teeing off long after the 58' Post is in the hands of classmates. So far this year, however, the golf team is undefeated. Shortridge, defending city-county champions, bowed to the mighty Continentals as did Tech and Howe, in a four way meet. The Continental golfers went on to become the 1958 city-county champions with David Stegemoller setting the pace with a sizzling 78. Members of the golf team not pictured are William Becker, Dave Bowman, Bob Foxworthy, Jerry Hughett, Frank Ivancic, and David Stegemoller.

. . . striking out opposing diamondmen

Starting off this year's twenty-one game schedule, the varsity baseball team looked impressive with wins over Kokomo and Ben Davis, last year's county champs. Many outstanding players are on the team this year with six returning lettermen. The six are Jack Reynolds, Pete Saunders, Charles Hedges, Dave Sanders, Gary Hesser, and Wendell Brown. So far this season Jack Reynolds, starting pitcher, held opposing teams to low scores. Against Tech and Ben Davis Jack pitched two-hit games and gave the opposition a lot of trouble. The Washington nine, under the coaching of Frank Luzar, hopes to place first in the 1958 city championship race.

Meanwhile on the other diamond, under the guidance of Joe Tofil, the reserve baseball team has found some outstanding players for next year's varsity team. With such players as Marion Baker, Bob Leeper, and David Gilbert the little purple are looking forward to another winning season.

With a "W"—Members Of the Letterman's Club are row 1: J. Stovall, B. Jones, J. Dean, C. Jenkins, J. Arnot, R. Lewis, and B. McCullough; row 2: D. Campbell, G. Bushong, N. Tsakrios, B. Coop, M. Swango, J. Arvin, J. Reynolds, G. Stephanoff, C. Givens, and C. Saunders; row 3: Bill Springer, sponsor, B. Caldwell, G. Hesser, C. Opp, B. Green, B. Keller, B. Bennett, J. Brunt, B. Brown, C. Hedges, Opp, N. Purichia, and B. Milatovich. Members of our Letterman's Club represent our outstanding athletes.

. . . setting continental standards

Going Western—Lettermen, T. Mulrine, B. McCullough, B. Green, and B. Bennett help at a basketball game by roping off the playing floor.

The Letterman's Club, sponsored by Mr. William Springer, strives to serve in every way possible. Holding the ropes at the basketball games, raising money for the Polio Drive, and helping when called upon to do so are just a few of the activities that the lettermen perform.

When our cheerleaders won the Kiwanis trophy for excellent yell leading, the Letterman's Club bought pins for the cheerleaders as a token of the athletes' appreciation for their fine work.

To qualify for admittance to this select group, a boy must have won a varsity letter and his conduct must uphold the honor of wearing that letter.

. . . jumping for joy

In noisy, crowded gyms or on chilly football fields, our cheerleaders spark our enthusiasm and guide us as we urge our athletes to victory.

Cheerleaders are chosen in May after tryouts. They are judged not only on their ability to perform, but also by their appearance and personality. For weeks before tryouts, hopefuls practice daily. For the ones selected, practice continues throughout the year.

The cheerleaders were honored at the annual sports banquet and received their awards on May day. For the second time in three years, our yell leaders won the coveted Kiwanis award.

Another One—Helen Suddeth, Joyce Mount, and Emma Yates add spirit to the Continental cheering section.

High, Higher, Highest—On the bleachers instead of in their usual places in front of the team are Helen Suddeth, Kay Ritchie, Linda Martin, Joyce Mount, Marilyn Harrington, Emma Yates, and David Bowman, Washington cheerleaders.

At the top—Emma Yates really soars skyward.

These girls prove athletics aren't confined to the stronger sex as they perfect tumbling skills.

The Continental Girls' Athletic Association provides athletic activities for Washington girls after school.

During the fall season, C. G. A. A. members devote their energy toward the popular sports of soccer, volleyball, and basketball, while the activities of the winter and spring seasons consist of tumbling, basketball, softball, and track.

Through their membership, Continental girls find enjoyment not only by participating in sports, but also by establishing friendships with other girls who are interested in the active life of sports, too.

Washington girls also have the opportunity to earn a block letter. Ten points are awarded to the members of the association who have achieved perfect attendance records at the end of each six weeks. A set of numerals with the year of graduation is awarded to the girl who has accumulated 150 points. A letter is given when one achieves 250 points, and for 350 points a C. G. A. A. plaque is awarded.

The officers of the C. G. A. A. include Dorothy Phillips, president; Liz Cox, secretary; Donna Moran, treasurer; and Alice Foster, publicity chairman.

and here we are

Meeting and becoming acquainted with countless students, establishing lasting friendships, and climaxing our high school careers by repeating words of good luck to our fellow graduates contributes to the memorable highlights of every Washington student's high school career.

Each year we say good-by to old friends and begin to greet our new friends.

We have said "hello" to the freshmen and welcomed them to the school. We have also been privileged to welcome new teachers to the faculty.

These are the people who make up the population of our world at Washington.

Setting Pretty—Art students learn to paint portraits of their friends.

Comparing Notes—Cloyd J. Julian and Justin D. Marshall our vice-principals, confer with H. H. Walter, our principal.

Combining Experience—Mrs. Nellie Baldwin, social worker, discusses school problems with Audie Watkins and Miss Leunice Horne, the deans.

. . . managing school functions efficiently

Washington's principal, Mr. H. H. Walter, and the vice-principals, Cloyd J. Julian and Justin D. Marshall, are the men who help maintain and improve Washington's high standards.

Audie Watkins, dean of boys; Miss Leunice Horne, dean of girls; Mrs. Nellie Baldwin, the school social worker; are concerned with the problems of the pupils as they guide Washington's students.

Aiding the Bosses—Washington's office staff includes Miss Margaret Hannan, Mrs. Doris Downey, Mrs. Connie Baldwin, Mrs. Pollie Payne, Mrs. Wilma J. Crippen, Miss Mary K. Mitchell, Mrs. Evelyn Farmer, Mrs. Betty Wilson, and Mrs. Aileen Dickman.

Quiet Please!—Mrs. Hine, senior sponsor, discusses important business with the senior class during roll call.

Passing the final exams, trying for that sober distinguished pose while Mr. Loudermilk did his best to make us laugh, looking impressive to underclassmen as we walked into Senior Roll Call, and knowing about and giving opinions about everything, we, as seniors, are ready to take our places in the adult world. Preparations for graduation began in the fall with the election of senior officers and appointment of committees. Commencement gowns and invitations arrived as the time grew near. Our tired feet carried us from employment office to employment office, as we looked to the future.

. . . reaching the final goal of graduation

Senior Steersman—Senior officers plan ahead for class events. Officers are Sandra Brown, secretary; Scottie McAtee, sgt.-at-arms; Leon Griffith, president; Dave Sanders, sgt.-at-arms; Gary Hesser, vice-president; and Helen Suddeth, treasurer. Their names appeared on regulation voting machines.

Senior Supremes—Seniors practicing government procedures are C. Hunt, S. May, J. Smith, M. Spuzich, J. Vaughn, T. Hensley, R. Riley, R. Seals, and E. Creech.

Will it Clash?—Phyllis Stotts and Nancy Ward are making their choice for senior colors.

. . . planning for commencement activities

Eeny Meeny—Bruce Barr selects his favorite candidate.

Important Decision—Three members of the commencement committee are making their choice of announcements.

Gowns for Grads—John Arvin, Judy Kay Smith, Scottie McAtee, and Russell Thomas view commencement robes.

Trying to buy a product without advertising is like reaching for something with closed eyes. Continental families and friends, for the first time, can turn to the pages of the '58 Post for helpful shopping hints. In the past the business leaders have been real partners in making each school function a success. This year these same business leaders have become a part of the '58 Post through their advertisments, taking advantage of the opportunity to reach Washington's buying population.

Planning and producing the Post to capture the highlights and memorable events of 1958 required the time and energy of many people. Helpful hints and guidance from summer journalism institutes at Indiana University and Florida State aided the staff in planning a dummy.

Underclassmen had their pictures snapped by National School Studios while seniors visited the studios of Earl Loudermilk. Mr. Loudermilk also took many of the activity pictures in the book. Many of the informal pictures were taken by Larry Combs, student photographer. Indianapolis Engraving Company made our 110 zinc cuts.

Boys in the print shop combined the pictures and copy into the seven signatures of the Post. Through the supervision of the printshop teachers, Mr. Walter Mendel and Mr. Michael Barrett, and journalism advisor, Miss Mary Benedict, the Post was completed. The final touch was added by H & H Bookbinding Company.

Students, particularly departing seniors, can turn the pages to recapture the memories of high school.
